Students, Professors Sign Up For Service In Third National Draft

Approximately 200 Between 20 and 45 Register; Present Group Will Not Be Called for Duty During Present School Year, Says Director

Approximately 200 male students and faculty members registered for the third national draft in the Student Union Bitter Root room. From 7:55 o'clock when Clayton Blanchette and Bruce Johnson, both of Fairview, arrived to sign up, until nearly 6 o'clock when Ross Toole, Missoula, appeared, 182 students and 16 faculty members complied with the selective service regulation.

Clerks Sid Strong, St. Ignatius; Bob Wylder, Havre; Joe McElwain, Deer Lodge, and Lloyd Eastman, Missoula, reported that business was best at the hourly intervals between classes with lulls the remainder of the time.

Paul Zuelke of Missoula, who was born Dec. 31, 1921, came closest to escaping draft regulations. Had he been born a day later, he would have missed being within the specified age limit for registration.

Registration cards will be sent to local boards which will shuffle the cards and allot a serial number to each. Assignment of the order in which registrants will be called will be determined at a national lottery in Washington, D. C., next month. New order numbers will be placed at the bottom of the list of numbers of previous registrants.

Men between the ages of 18 and 20 and 45 to 65 will be registered late this spring for classification for civilian protection and war production jobs.

Students in the new registration can plan to complete spring quarter due to the time involved in setting up the lottery, classification and physical examination, according to Lewis Hershey, national selective service director.

Strong emphasized that any men who reached their twentieth birthdays before January 21, 1941, and have not reached their forty-fifth birthdays by today must report to the draft board if they did not register yesterday.

Audience Acclaims Violinist's Concert

Reaching an early perfection in the brilliant execution of his first number, Handel's "Sonata in A Major," Zino Francescatti, celebrated French violinist, probably attained the peak of performance technique last night in his own arrangement of the "Concerto in D Major," by Paganini.

Performing before an enthusiastic Community Concert audience which indicated its awareness of the great virtuosity of the violinist by repeated demands for encores, Francescatti more than justified the praise of other critics who have called him "the prince of virtuosos" and "another Paganini."

The consistently brilliant support of his accompanist, Artur Balsam, was particularly evident during the Paganini concerto, when his introductory passages were such as to rival the cadenza work of Francescatti.

All in all, it was a recital that may be looked back upon as more than could be expected of a truly great artist.

WSSF Plans Dinner to Help Reach Goal

Plans for an "international" dinner, the proceeds of which will go to the World Student Service fund, were discussed at a meeting of student representatives to WSSF in the Bitter Root room Saturday afternoon.

The World Student Service fund, an organization supported solely by American college students, gives aid to American and Allied prisoners of war in Europe, as well as providing financial assistance to war refugees in this country.

Betty Lou Burns, Butte, chairman of the WSSF chapter on the campus, said that the financial goal for the university chapter this year had been set at $100. Miss Burns told the committee that sororities last year raised $35 alone in promoting "soup days."

The total amount of money donated last year by colleges over the United States was $65,000, New York alone contributing $9,000.

Art Construction Group Organizes

The establishment of Art Construction, an extension of Art club, was discussed at a meeting Friday by a committee presided over by Walter Hook, Milltown. Regular meetings will be every Thursday night in the art building.

This group will operate for the direct investigation of artistic form, according to George Yphantis, associate professor of fine arts. It will give a practical approach to art to supplement what is already being done, with emphasis on plastic form and design.

PSI CHI TO MEET, VOTE

Psi Chi, national psychology honorary, will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight in Main Hall 205. Tom Burgess, club president, urges all members to be present since a vote on buying a picture for the Sentinel will be taken.

SOS Scheduled for Tonight

Students Will Congregate To Welcome University Into Fiftieth Year

The completion of the forty-ninth year of existence for the university will be celebrated tonight when students gather beneath the Main hall tower at 7:30 o'clock to take part in the annual Charter day SOS, Harold McChesney, Missoula, traditions chairman, announced yesterday.

Sluice Box Advance Sale Will Begin

Circulation of Sluice Box will begin tonight in dormitories and sorority houses, and the winter issues of the student literary magazine will go on sale tomorrow in the library, the Journalism building and the student store, according to Virginia Gisborne, Missoula, business manager.

"Placer," a department of editorial comment on the authors of the issue, will be the only new feature of the magazine, which will appear in a format similar to that of last quarter, Ann Clements, Helena, editor, announced.

A linoleum block cut, "Number Four" by Walter Hook, Milltown, will separate sections of the magazine.

Assembling and mimeographing of the publication, which includes poetry, articles and short stories, was completed last week.

Smarty Party Is Postponed

The annual Mortar Board Smarty-Party, given in honor of the scholastically high-ranking women of the university has been postponed from tonight till tomorrow night, Barbara Streit, Missoula, Mortar Board president, said yesterday. The change in the date was made because of its conflict with observance of Founder's Day.

MELBY RETURNS SUNDAY

President Ernest O. Melby returned Sunday from Lewistown where he spoke to the Farm and Home Week association Saturday afternoon.

Two Chosen to Represent School in National Debate

Roger Baldwin, Kalispell, and Earl Stephanson, Anaconda, have been chosen by the speech department to represent the university in a nation-wide radio debate contest sponsored by the American Economic foundation, Ralph Y. McGinnis, assistant professor of speech, announced yesterday.

The two were picked by McGinnis from the debate squad and class in argumentation.

Baldwin's debate is prepared on the affirmative side of a question concerning the idea that youth has fair opportunity under the American system of free economic enterprise and Stephanson's is prepared on the negative side of the subject. The divisional contest which President E. O. Melby will open the Charter day program with a short talk and will be followed by John Lester, assistant professor of music, who will lead students in a heterogeny of old war songs, contemporary war songs and college songs.

KGVO will broadcast the program and it is requested that all students arrive on time at Main hall, where they will be given the choice of remaining outside or conducting the anniversary ovation in the auditorium.

Students Call SOS

Charter day was recognized annually at a Feb. 17 convocation until last year, when the students failed to attend the anniversary in majority and then repented that night by calling an SOS.

Consequently, according to A. C. Cogswell, chairman of Public Exercises committee, the students who seem to prefer a Charter day SOS to a Charter day convocation, will have an SOS.

Following are excerpts from Cogswell's letter to the student body:

"It may be cold, but the Charter day SOS could be a lot of fun anyway. Of course, if it's too cold we'll move it inside, but somehow I like the idea of the students turning out in ski pants and the faculty in longies to welcome the university into its fiftieth year. After all, it's something for the old girl to have lived to 49.

Promise No Tripe

"Maybe we'd better make a promise to you. We'll promise that no one is going to thumb through the pages of the past and tell you how much better your predecessors were than you. That's all tripe! If it were true there would be no university today; all of us know we have to progressively get better to survive. Instead we're going to call on Dr. Melby for five minutes. From then on it's your show, with John Lester directing. Will you ask your gang to come out?"

Baldwin and Stephanson will attend, is one of four to be held in the United States and is tentatively scheduled to occur in Denver. Participants will number 16.

Eight affirmative and eight negative speakers will be chosen from the divisional competition to attend the national contest which offers awards of $1000 for first prize and $500 for second.

THE UNIVERSITY TODAY CELEBRATES ITS FORTY-NINTH YEAR

The SOS scheduled tonight will celebrate the forty-ninth birthday of the university. In those 49 years the school has passed through many changes, growing along with the state which is only a few years older than the school.

Although established Feb. 17, 1893, by an act of the state legislature, it was not until the fall of 1895 that the school was opened in temporary quarters borrowed from the city of Missoula.

Fifty students enrolled the opening day of the first session, but the list had swelled to nearly 135 before the year was over. There were five faculty members, headed by President Oscar J. Craig.

From these humble beginnings the university has grown until last year the school boasted a faculty of 92 full-time members, a college of arts and sciences which includes 17 major departments and seven professional schools and an affiliated School of Religion.

Throughout this history nearly 5,000 students have been graduated while thousands more have attended from periods of one to three years. Many nationally known men have been graduated from the university, among whom are Dr. Harold Urey, Nobel prize winner for his discovery of heavy water; Clarence Streit, author of "Union Now," and Howard Johnson, chief justice of the state supreme court.

The building program has been carried out throughout the years, culminating in the recently added chemistry-pharmacy building. Today 17 brick and 10 wooden structures are used for class rooms.

But enough of the past—what of the university's future? Today, with the war occupying our undivided attention, schools throughout the nation are finding it increasingly hard to keep attendances up to normal. This is also true of the university. It will be a tough job in the next few years to keep up the same high standards, but just as it emerged from the last war to make progress so will the university do the same after the present conflict.

COLLEGES URGED TO DROP PRESENT ADMISSION POLICIES

The common cry of "Well, I don't see why I have to take physics for an English major," may soon be a thing of the past, if the National Commission on the Relation of School and College has any influence with board of education throughout the country.

The commission recently made public its findings on high school-college relations, studied throughout the nation for the past eight years. Thirty high schools and about 300 colleges were included in the experiment after the advisory boards of each had agreed to evaluate students according to the recommendations of the commission.

One thousand four hundred seventy-five pairs of students, matched as closely as possible with respect to intelligence, social, economic and other conditions, were used in finding the answer. The high schools followed the general plan of the commission, but were allowed complete freedom in advising the students, outlining the new curricula, and scrapping any conventional methods or courses they deemed unnecessary.

It was found that high school students who were educated "freely," without the set courses of the past, earned a slightly higher total grade average, received more academic honors, knew more about what was going on in the world, and were generally more resourceful in meeting new situations.

As a result, the commission recommends that colleges, to encourage schools to move ahead, abandon their present admissions policy. Colleges cannot be justified in setting up admission requirements which have been shown to be unnecessary in preparation for college work.

It is to be hoped that this experiment and the resulting discovery will bring about a partial revision of college and university requirements for graduation.—B. H.

Mansfield Talks On East Indies In Radio Speech

"If Java and Sumatra fall, Japan will control not only the southwest Pacific, but also the large areas in the Indian Ocean and may possibly cut off supplies to the Burma road," said Michael Mansfield, assistant professor of history and political science, over KGVO Monday night.

This was the second in a series of talks on the Far East scheduled by Mansfield, and the main topic was the importance of the Netherlands East Indies both geographically and strategically. The Dutch are to be complimented, said Mansfield, on waging a vigorous fight and putting into effect a real scorched earth policy.

Grizzlies Run Victory String to Eleven

Record Broken as Gonzaga Falls in Hard Fought Week-end Tilts at Spokane

Montana Grizzlies hit a new high in consecutive games at 11 straight by sweeping the final Gonzaga series, 56-51 and 55-42, Friday and Saturday at Spokane. The first game was turned into a Grizzly victory by the stellar work of three Montana guards, Jack Burgess, Chuck Burgess and Joe Taylor.

The Montana trio kept the Grizzly band in front as they consistently connected from far out on the floor. Jack Burgess and Taylor ran their total to 10 apiece and Chuck Burgess led the Grizzly attack with 14 points.

Lead at Half

Grizzlies led the Bulldogs, 24-20, at the half and while they never enjoyed a comfortable margin, they were ahead for the entire route.

In the final game Willie DeGroot staged a red-hot scoring splurge in the last few minutes, after Gonzaga had rallied within two points of the high-flying Grizzlies, to give Montana the victory over the Bulldogs. The triumph Saturday night made it four in a row over the Zags this season and continued the Grizzly jinx over the Bulldogs to 10 wins out of 12 starts.

Chuck Burgess, Montana's push shot artist, sank four tries as the game opened to give Montana a lead they held throughout the contest. At the half time, Grizzlies led, 26-25.

Scoring honors went to Vic Ebaugh, Gonzaga guard, who rang up 17 points. DeGroot led the Grizzly scoring, following close behind Ebaugh with 16, most of them made in the final six minutes. Chuck Burgess scored 13.

DeGroot Breaks Loose

Although Montana was in front, the game has been a bitter struggle until DeGroot broke loose on his scoring flurry. In the final six minutes the speedy forward bombarded the basket with uncanny accuracy to tuck the game safely away in the Grizzly victory bag.

During both games few fouls were called and neither team displayed any accuracy from the free throw line. Montana lost Jones via the personal foul route Friday and in the second fray Jack Burgess went out of the game on personals.

Anderson Sets Marks In Pin Loop

Carver Anderson of the Sigma Nu team racked up two season records and his teammates went on to set a total record of the year in a hectic week-end of Interfraternity bowling tilts which saw Phi Delta Theta recapture the lead in the league.

Anderson mowed the pins down for a 265 line and this along with his other scores of 222 and 148 gave him a season's high total of 626.

The Sigma Nu team showed real power in the contest by setting a 2,680 record series high and by knocking Phi Sigma Kappa, which bowled 2,227, out of the league's lead.

SX Tops SAE

In the other matches Sigma Chi defeated Sigma Alpha Epsilon two straight sets to one, and the Phi Delt copped three straight from Sigma Phi Epsilon. Potter sparked the PDT team with a 200 while Don Hall chalked up a 525 series for the winning five.

Sigma Phi Epsilon dropped into the dank cellar with the three-game loss. Although no individual tallies were high, the set total ranged above 2,400. Enke paced the losers with a 454 score for the three lines.

SAE bowlers took the count from Sigma Chi by a substantial margin in the third set. Both squads knotted the count at one-all.

Dykstra Leads Mates

Dan Dykstra led his SX teammates in the third set while Ed Zuelke blew a pair of frames to put Sigma Alpha Epsilon in arrears. Pin setters were busy putting them up for Stub Angstman, who scored a 509 series.

Swimmers Splash to Victory Over Cheney; Fencers Win

Eastern Washington college suffered a double defeat at the hands of Montana Saturday when Grizzly tanksters overwhelmed the Cheney splashers, 47 to 17, and the Montana Fencing club downed the visitors, 5 to 4.

Bob Oswald showed top form in the aqua contest coming within a split second of the tank record in the breaststroke style. George Erickson paced the Montana squad for counters with two firsts in the 100- and 220-yard free style.

Carl Zur-Muehlen raced against time in the backstroke as no Cheney plungers entered the contest. Winsor Fernette eked out a win in the 40-yard free style fray.

EWC plungers annexed but a single win in the competition. Lieut. George Misevic's Grizzly squad took both the 16-yard relay and 120-yard medley relay. Everett Morris gave a diving exhibition.

Zur-Muehlen threatened his own backstroke record with a fast 1:12.6 time. Oswald indicated that the former breaststroke record held by King might fall in future tilts by racing a 1:13. The results:

120-yard medley relay—Montana (Zur-Muehlen, Oswald, Fernette) 1:12.2.

220-yard freestyle—Erickson, Montana; Burgess, Montana; Eiegenthaler, Cheney. 2:41.5.

40-yard freestyle—Fernette, Montana; Oswald, Montana; Koch, Cheney. 22 seconds.

100-yard freestyle—Erickson, Montana; Stewart, Cheney; Fernette, Montana. 1:05.5.

100-yard backstroke—Zur-Muehlen, Montana; Burgess, Montana, no third. 1:12.6.

100-yard breaststroke—Oswald, Montana; Ramsey, Cheney; Stewart, Cheney. 1:13.

440-yard freestyle—Siegenthaler, Cheney; Ramsey, Cheney, no third. 7:13.5.

160-yard relay—Montana (Fernette, Burgess, Burns, Oswald) 1:28.7.

In the fencing contests Dick Sifelli won two matches from Newhouse and Wynecoop of Cheney by respective 5-3 and 5-4 tallies and lost to Robinett, 3 to 5. Jim Walsh defeated Wynecoop 5-1 and dropped two to Newhouse, 2-5 and Robinette, 4-5. Max Miller bolstered the Montana team

Cub Cagers Lose to Butte; Beat Powell

University Cubs broke even on a two-game tour over the week-end, dropping their first match against Butte high Friday night, 39-28, and beating Deer Lodge high, 39-31, Saturday.

Friday the thirteenth proved a bad omen against the frosh in the third quarter of the Butte game when the Purples piled up 12 points to three and went ahead with a surge to give them the margin of victory.

Butte started ahead, 10-6; the Cubs spurred and led, 21-18, at half time. In the third period the Butte regulars came back to build up a lead, while the Cubs missed several tries in their attempt to overcome the Purples.

Ducich with 13 and Killoy counting 12 led the Butte scoring. Latrielle paced the Cubs with 10.

Lineups:

Cubs (28)—Dikeos, Sullivan 2, Cramer 5, Stegner 2, forwards; Latrielle 10, Rieder 1, centers; Berger 4, Bowman 4, guards. Butte (39)—Sullivan 6, Killoy 12, O'Hern, Vucurovich, forwards; Ducich 13, center; Violet 5, Marinovich, Matkovic 3, guards.

A staff statistician reports in the Whitworth college Whistle that "there are only three clean saddle oxfords on the campus and two approximately clean."

with wins over Robinette, 5-2, and Newhouse, 5-2. Bob Wylder lost to Wynecoop by a 2-5 margin.

Will Choose Contestants March 12

Contestants to represent the university in the state peace oratorical contest will be chosen March 12 instead of Feb. 25, as previously announced, according to Ralph Y. McGinnis, assistant professor of speech. Winners of the state meet will attend the national competition sponsored by the Intercollegiate Peace association sometime in the spring.

The debates, which concern the winning of future permanent peace, are open to any undergraduate university student who prepares an oration limited to 1700 words.

State competition is scheduled for March 27 when judges will award medals to first, second and third place winners. The 100 dollar cash award for the state contest is withheld this year for the first time since 1918, because of war activity. Everything possible is being done, however, to obtain money for the awarding of the usual $50, $30 and $20 prizes, McGinnis said.

Seven instrumentalists and two vocalists were included on the weekly student recital which was held in Main hall auditorium Friday.

Instrumentalists were Bob Singer, Jordan; Mae Bruce, Glasgow; Lois Dahl, Forsyth; Bob Enevoldsen, Billings; Lilburn Wallace, Columbus, and Louise Replogle and Judith Hurley, both of Lewistown. Cecile Morrison, Manitowac, Wis., and Evagene Spaulding, Missoula, were vocalists on the program.

Record Crowd Sees "Macbeth"

A record attendance of 1,170 people with a box office of $236 in cash was set by the two-night run of "Macbeth," winter quarter major production, according to Ad Karns, dramatics director. Of this total, 817 were university students.

"As many people attended the Friday night show of 'Macbeth' as the combined two-night run of 'Ladies in Retirement,' fall production," Karns stated.

The high school matinee drew a house of nearly 400 students, 100 of whom were from four out-of-town high schools, Hamilton, Drummond, Ronan and Arlee.

At the Friday performance, 45 adults attended from Kalispell, and 10 from Dillon.

"Selecting and casting of the spring quarter major production will begin next week," director Karns announced. "The show, not yet chosen, will be a comedy. Suggestions for a modern comedy are welcome because I would like to know what the student body wishes to see."

War Veteran Mike Signs For Service Once More

Caught in the draft just a week short of 24 years since he enlisted for overseas duty in the United States navy, Mike Mansfield, assistant professor of history and political science, yesterday joined the ranks of 20-44 year-old students and teachers who registered for military service.

Mansfield, considered one of the nation's youngest veterans, joined the navy on Feb. 23, 1918, at the age of 14 and was stationed on the convoy cruiser U. S. S. Minneapolis until the close of the war.

Following his discharge from the navy at the close of the war, the young sailor joined the army, but after a dull year of army life he transferred to the Marine corps.

As a "leatherneck," Mansfield visited Siberia soon after an American expeditionary force had been withdrawn from that region, and later obtained a glimpse of Japan.

The battalion to which he was attached patrolled the outskirts of Tientsin during the chaotic period of the Chiang Tso-Pei Fu struggle. The elder Chiang Tso Lin is now dead, but it was his son who kidnapped and held for ransom Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Chek.

While in the Far East, Mansfield was stationed in Olongapo, a Philippine city recently captured by the Japanese.

Returning to the United States after completing his military service, Mansfield worked for nine years in the mines at Butte and attended the School of Mines for a year and a half. He then came to the university and received his B.A. degree in history in 1933.

While working on his master's degree he was secretary of the committee on admission and graduation, but in the fall of 1937 he dropped his secretarial duties to become a full-time instructor in history. In addition to conducting his regular classes in the university the history professor is serving on the board now hearing the cases of enemy aliens at Fort Missoula.

Mansfield is widely known on the campus and in Western Montana for his radio talks on South America and the Far East. He ran for Congress in 1940, but was defeated in the primaries by Jerry O'Connell, who was, in turn, beaten by Jeannette Rankin.

Line Offers Shorthand To Beginners

"If you desire to register for beginning shorthand spring quarter, call the School of Business administration this week," Robert C. Line, dean of the School of Business administration, said yesterday.

No provision has been made on the spring schedule to start a beginning course according to Line. However, the school of business desires to adapt itself to the needs of the times and is willing to offer this course providing there is a sufficient number who wish to enroll in it.

Those who begin shorthand in the spring may continue during the summer session if they so desire. A good student should be able to pass the recently lowered Civil Service requirement at the end of two quarters. Hence some students beginning shorthand spring quarter might be ready for a job by next fall, the dean said.

Proctors Trounce South Hall Squad In Close Game

A smooth-passing Proctor five edged out a stubborn South hall squad Saturday, 37-35, in the third round of Interhall basketball.

South hall grabbed the lead in the contest and held it through the greater part of the first half, but Proctors started to click late in the period and pulled ahead 23 to 13 at the close of the half.

Proctors retained a safe margin until the last few seconds of play, when Jim Anderson, South hall center, converted a set-up, tying the score.

A five-minute overtime period, in which Sherman Lohn netted two baskets in quick succession gave Proctors a four point lead. Anderson came back fast for a counter but was unable to connect again.

Anderson was high point man for the clash, with 23 tallies.
